One Million Baldheads who Thought Dandruft Wasn't Dangerous

In the United States and Canada today there are nearly a million men who at 35 can be put in the baldhead When these men had thick, vigorous hair, dandruff made its appearance. That was the time to attack the enmy of mankind—the persistent little evil called a dandruff microbe, or Young men or any man, for that matter, beware of the dandruff germ; t is not a theory, but an actual condition that confronts you. That dandruff is caused by a germ, is proven beyond question. That this germ destroys the hair root is today a matter of common knowledge.

At a meeting of the directors of the Uneas National Bank held at their banking house Monday morning the following minute was adopted:

In connection with the death of our vice-president, John C. Perkins, in this city on Sept. 24, 1916, the directors of this bank desire to place upon its records a recognition of Mr. Perkins long and faithful service as an officer of this institution.

Mr. Perkins was elected a director of and faithful service as an officer of this institution.

Mr. Perkins was elected a director of the Unive National Earls on Jan. 14. 1899, and has continuously held that office ever since. Since Jan. 10, 1905, he has been its vice-president.

His long experience coupled with a wide acquaintance with the business affairs and the business men of Nerwich, gave him the opportunity of rendering valuable service on this Board. His loyalty to the interests of the bank and his punctuality in attendance upon all its meetings has often been noted. He was conservative in his judgment and most careful in his desire as a director to protect the interests of those whose funds were here invested and whom he was ever conscious that he thus represented. His personal friendships were made subordinate in the consideration of all bank matters.

Mr. Perkins book just pride in his record and reputation for industry, temperance, frugality and honesty. Of genial temperament, wide experience and recognized uprightness, he was highly esteemed, and in his death this bank, with which he has so long heen connected, as well as the community in which he has so long lived, has suffered a distinct loss.
